Welcome to the student takeover. I am a part of Meopham's editorial team, who will be writing from a student perspective about key messages and announcements from Meopham School.

Enrichment - Meopham Magazine

The Meopham Magazine was created in March 2022, with the intention of informing all students and parents of previous school events such as trips, which are written to showcase the students' perspectives and opinions.

The Magazine provides a safe place where all students can contribute and perfect their ability to create formal pieces of work of their choosing, while also expressing their individual interests and encouraging expression.

KEY MESSAGES

WORK EXPERIENCE

Year 12 students have finished their short work experience placement that allowed students to gain practical insight into the working world by spending time in a professional workplace.

Overall, work experience bridges the gap between school and employment by providing valuable, active experience.

YEAR 11 MOCKS

Year 11's final mocks have concluded, which aim to prepare students for their final exams in May.

Mocks allow students to build confidence and refine their revision strategies ahead of the real exams.

HOUSE ASSEMBLIES

A representative of Hever house explains that their role is to uplift and support those in their house. Each house has two house captains and two senior leaders who ensure everything runs smoothly.

Our houses are designed to allow the students to act in a community and work together to gain rewards. We have house assemblies every term to update each house on what they have accomplished and any upcoming events that the house will be involved in. The houses and assemblies allow everyone to be involved in and out of school. Each house has a designated charity that they can raise money for and from now on, houses will hold charity events to raise money. It will be an event decided by the whole house that can get the whole school involved.

STUDENT INSIGHT

A year 10 student from Meopham expresses that “Although the weather might be testing just how tenacious we are, there are certainly brief beams of sunshine that remind us of the glorious summer to come. Until then though we knuckle down with our studies, always in the knowledge that - like everything in life - excellence will come to those who strive for it. It won't be long before the daffodils come into their golden bloom and perhaps this spring we can join them in their flourish..”
